Notes: Sermon Text Subject Spiritual "To Do List" (things God has shown me today)

Psalm 104

Again we have a great song of praise commencing and closing with the same note of personal praise. While [in the previous psalm] the dominant note is that of the mercy of Jehovah, here it is that of His majesty. The former is the song of love to Love. This is the song of loyalty to Royalty.

The psalm opens with a declaration of the essential greatness of God, and then proceeds in poetic language to describe the manifestations of His greatness in creation. All through, beneficent purpose is recognised. The springs among the valleys are for quenching of the thirst of birds and beasts. Grass and herbs are for service, and so on throughout.

Then in a burst of praise the singer recognises the dependence of all upon Jehovah. The hiding of His face is trouble, and if He withdraw breath, death ensues. Finally, he cries out for the continuity of the realisation of Divine purpose everywhere, in order that Jehovah may rejoice in His works. To this end he declares he will make the contribution of his personal worship. The conception is full of beauty. The widespread revelation of the power and glory of God makes its appeal to the individual responsibility of the one man.

"Our help is in the name of the Lord, who made heaven and earth." In the spirit of warm friendship, we welcome all who have come this morning to find help from the Creator and Sustainer of us all.

Call To Worship

Bless the Lord, O my soul. O Lord my God, thou art very great; thou art clothed with honour and majesty.

Who coverest thyself with light as with a garment: who stretchest out the heavens like a curtain:

Who layeth the beams of his chambers in the waters:

who maketh the clouds his chariot: who walketh upon the wings of the wind:

Who maketh his angels spirits; his ministers a flaming fire:

Who laid the foundations of the earth, that it should not be removed for ever.

O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

Bless thou the Lord, O my soul. Praise ye the Lord.

—Psalm 104:1-5, 24, 35
