Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light: Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son: In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins: Who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature:

For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him: And he is before all things, and by him all things consist. And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence. For it pleased the Father that in him should all fulness dwell; Colossians 1:12-19

Welcome to our service of worship! It is a time when we affirm the supreme 'worth-ship' of God who knows us thoroughly but loves us nonetheless. We are here to praise God, to confess our wrongs, to seek God's pardon, to receive instruction from God's written Word, and to meet in his living Word, our Lord Jesus Christ. Come, let us worship God!

In 20 years of working with thousands of men, many of whom I'm privileged to pastor, I've learned that no single thing is more basic to releasing a man into his life's purpose than learning to praise God! No, praise isn't a gimmick for success. It's a soul-shaping, mind-transforming, heart-igniting program for making a man.

-Jack Hayford

When Louis XIV of France (1638 -1715) died, it was only fitting that he should be buried in the most famous religious edifice in his country: Notre Dame Cathedral. The notables of Europe gathered there, properly attired in all their finery. Remember: It was an age of pageantry. The splendidly bedecked visitors sat in the cathedral, ready for the eulogy of the priest, expecting him to tell them what a marvelous man Louis XIV had been. The priest mounted his pulpit and looked out over that very prestigious audience. Then he said, "Only God is great." Like cold steel, this cut into the hearts of those assembled as they suddenly sobered in a great hush. Imagine what that meant. All this pomp and show would dissolve into a wooden box like the one sitting in their midst. Finally, that which was inside the box would return to the dust of the earth. The priest reminded everyone present of a truth no one should ever forget: ONLY GOD IS GREAT. -Arthur H. DeKruyter

No man in this world attains freedom from any slavery except by entrance into some higher servitude. There is no such thing as an entirely free man. If there were one such being, he would be lost in this great universe, all strung through as it is with obligations. It is not whether you are free or a servant, but whose servant you are, that is the question. It is not by striking off all allegiances, but by finding your true Lord and serving him with a complete submission, that you can escape from slavery.
