Spiritual "To Do List"
(things God has shown me today)

Victory Grove Camp is over for another year, but the afterglow remains. Here are some comments from some of our people who were at camp this year:

"I really liked camp because there's the candy store (of course), and then there are the services (my favorite part), and the meals. My favorite part is the services because a lot of times you can feel God's presence. I really have a hard time describing it. I can tell you what I did, but I can't describe it. All I can say is, I wish they would do camp every month."

"I had a great time at Victory Grove camp this year. I grew spiritually and made several new friends that I will have forever. Thank God for a wonderful time!"

"I was not disappointed in any part of Camp this year. The early morning prayer service was blessed; the fine group of young people were so polite and served so willingly; the Fourth of July service was thrilling. God was honored."

"In spite of a lot of rain and extreme heat, there was a good spirit in the camp this year. The people really sang. They would keep singing even after the song leader was done, and they would start songs and request songs spontaneously through the services. There were a lot of extemporaneous testimonies, and several times the services were interrupted by people coming to the altar. The young people participated in the services, also."

"The preaching was very good. I believe it was just what was needed. Just to see all the young people who made commitments at the altar, and those who had grown from last year, made it all worthwhile. "

"A highlight for me was the Independence Day parade. I wish everyone could have seen the Middleburgh children and young people. I thought we had a wonderful float entry!"

"I got something out of every single message I heard, and the singing was great!"

"The services I was able to get in were well attended by both the young people and adults. I enjoyed the singing and preaching, and it was encouraging to see the altar lined with seekers. Another great camp!"

Let's remember to follow through with whatever the Lord showed us during camp.
